

Blockchain Thought Leader Angela Dalton Joins Wall Street Blockchain Alliance Advisory Board

New York, New York (October 30, 2018) – The Wall Street Blockchain Alliance (WSBA), an industry leading non-profit trade association with a mission to guide and promote comprehensive adoption of blockchain technology and cryptoassets across global markets, is pleased to announce that Angela Dalton has been appointed to the WSBA Advisory Board.

Angela has 19 years of experience working with institutional investors and publicly traded companies in the Tech Media and Telecom sectors. Currently she is Co-Founder and the Managing Partner of Technology for Signum Global Advisors, focusing on the intersection of policy and emerging technology, with an emphasis on blockchain and cryptocurrency. Most recently, Angela was the Sector Head of TMT in Equities and analyzed technologies such as artificial intelligence, digital media, data centers, eSports, blockchain and cryptocurrency for Guggenheim Partners. Angela holds a BS and a BA from The University of Kansas and an MBA from The University of Chicago.

Notes Ron Quaranta, Chairman of the WSBA: “It is a privilege to have Angela join the WSBA Advisory Board. She is a recognized thought leader in not only the blockchain sector, but the broader emerging technology ecosystem as a whole. This multidisciplinary expertise provides her with a unique vantage point in the space that will be invaluable for our members. She will prove to be a key asset in our goal of promoting the adoption of blockchain technology and cryptoassets across global markets.”

Notes Angela Dalton: “There is a huge opportunity to bring together institutional investors, blockchain technologists, companies, policy makers and leaders in academia to work toward building optimal technology for our futures. The Wall Street Blockchain Alliance is a perfect forum to lead in education and information sharing, and I am honored to be on the Advisory Board.”
