

Wall Street Blockchain Alliance Adds New Corporate Members

Leading Innovators from multiple industry segments join trade association

New York, New York (February 16, 2021) – The Wall Street Blockchain Alliance (WSBA), an industry leading non-profit trade association with a mission to guide and promote comprehensive adoption of cryptoassets and blockchain technology across global markets, is proud to announce that Bitwave, Friedman LLP, NODE40, Polymath Network and Texture Capital have recently joined the family of WSBA corporate members.

“We are privileged to have these industry leading firms join our organization. We look forward to collaborating with them and our other corporate members to further the shared mission of promoting comprehensive adoption of blockchain technology and cryptoassets across global markets”, noted WSBA Chairman Ron Quaranta. “These firms are recognized leaders and innovators in their respective industries, and their experience and thought leadership will be critical to the evolution of blockchain and cryptoassets across the globe”.

New Member Statements

Bitwave

“Bitwave is the first complete solution for businesses that use crypto, handling everything from deep accounting integrations (QuickBooks, NetSuite, etc.) to tax tracking, DeFi, and crypto AR / AP. Organizations like the WSBA are an incredibly important part of bringing digital assets to enterprises and traditional financial institutions, and we're very excited to be involved," said Pat White, CEO and Co-Founder of Bitwave. “As the only enterprise digital asset platform to entirely support DeFi, we feel it is important to be part of the conversation as Wall Street begins to adopt these revolutionary technologies," added Bitwave Co-Founder Amy Kalnoki.

For more information about Bitwave, visit <https://www.bitwave.io>

Friedman LLP

Friedman LLP has been at the forefront of the digital currency and blockchain technology industry since 2015. Robert Graham, Digital Currency Practice Leader & Partner, recently told the WSBA “We are thrilled to kick off the year being part of a leading industry association in which we can collaborate with many like-minded professionals in the space. We truly look forward to partnering with WSBA and its members”.

For more information on Friedman’s practice, visit www.friedmanllp.com/industries/digital-currency

NODE40

“We’ve followed the Alliance for several years now and have been consistently impressed with their professional insights and reasonable positions on significant movements throughout the industry; be it responses to proposed rule changes or commentary on crypto accounting. Choosing to join the WSBA was an easy decision,” said Perry Woodin, CEO of NODE40.

For more information about NODE40, visit <https://www.node40.com>

Polymath Network

Polymath is a leader in the security token space, striving to make it easy to create, issue and manage digital securities on the blockchain. The company spearheaded the creation of the ERC1400 standard and is now in the process of launching Polymesh, an institutional-grade blockchain that is purpose-built for regulated assets. Greg Murphy, Director of Enterprise Development, adds: “Security tokens are poised to change the way the world does business. It’s an exciting time for blockchain generally, and we’re delighted to be working with the WSBA to guide and promote the development of blockchain around the globe.”

For more information about Polymath Network, visit <https://polymath.network>

Texture Capital

“I have known Ron for several years and have always valued his perspective and leadership in the crypto and blockchain space. The Wall Street Blockchain Alliance provides a valuable industry forum to connect with peers, and to advocate for ongoing crypto and blockchain adoption. Texture Capital is proud to be a member of the WSBA”, noted Texture Capital CEO, Richard Johnson.

For more information about Texture Capital, visit <https://www.texture.capital>

About the Wall Street Blockchain Alliance

The Wall Street Blockchain Alliance (WSBA) is an industry leading non-profit trade association, with a mission to advocate, guide and promote comprehensive adoption of blockchain technology and cryptoassets across global markets.

For information about the WSBA, including membership, visit www.wsba.co or email to info@wsba.co. For media inquiries, email media@wsba.co.

###